

Maya Angelou AND IRISE STILL

THE FIRST FEATURE DOCUMENTARY ABOUT THE INCOMPARABLE MAYA ANGELOU

A LOOK INSIDE THE
QUINCY JONES & AMERICAN MASTERS PICTURES
SCREENING

Maya Angelou and Quincy Jones enjoyed a friendship that lasted over 50 years.

QUINCY JONES AND AMERICAN MASTERS PICTURES

- CORDIALLY INVITE YOU AND A GUEST TO ATTEND THE SCREENING -

Maya Angelou
ANDIRISE
STILL

THE FIRST FEATURE DOCUMENTARY ABOUT THE INCOMPARABLE MAYA ANGELOU

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 2016

6PM - Reception

7:15 - Screening

9:15 - Q/A with the filmmakers

William Morris Endeavor Entertainment

Quincy Jones and American Masters hosted this special screening

When Quincy Jones came on the scene with Executive Producer Christopher Gardner (Pursuit of Happiness) and Q's assists, it was time to get this party started.

So here's the play. Michael Kantor (Executive Producer), Rita Coburn Whack (Co-Director), Q, Bob Hercules (Co-Director) and Maya Angelou's grandson Colin Johnson are ready set go!

We thank all our guests, kickstarter supporters and members of the Academy of Motion Pictures Art and Sciences.

Q talks about his relationship with Maya Angelou over the years.

Q and the audience watch the program.

Thanks to all of you, we are rising!

Top row: Michael Kantor (Executive Producer) American Masters, Co-Director Bob Hercules, Maya Angelou's Grandson Colin Johnson, Bottom Row: Co-Director Rita Coburn Whack, Quincy Jones, Chris Gardner (Executive Producer)